M3DLoC Open Day 2022

Open Day 2022 – In person venue Information

The M3DLoC Open Day will be taking place as a hybrid meeting on the 24th June 2022. The in-person event will be held at:

Lavrion Technological & Cultural Park

1 Athens-Lavrion Avenue
GR19500, Lavrion,
Greece

The Lavrion Technological and Cultural Park was founded in 1992 in the facility of the old French Mining Company of Lavrion (Compagnie Française des Mines du Laurium), at the initiative of the National Technical University of Athens, aiming to host and promote research and business activities.

Lavrio

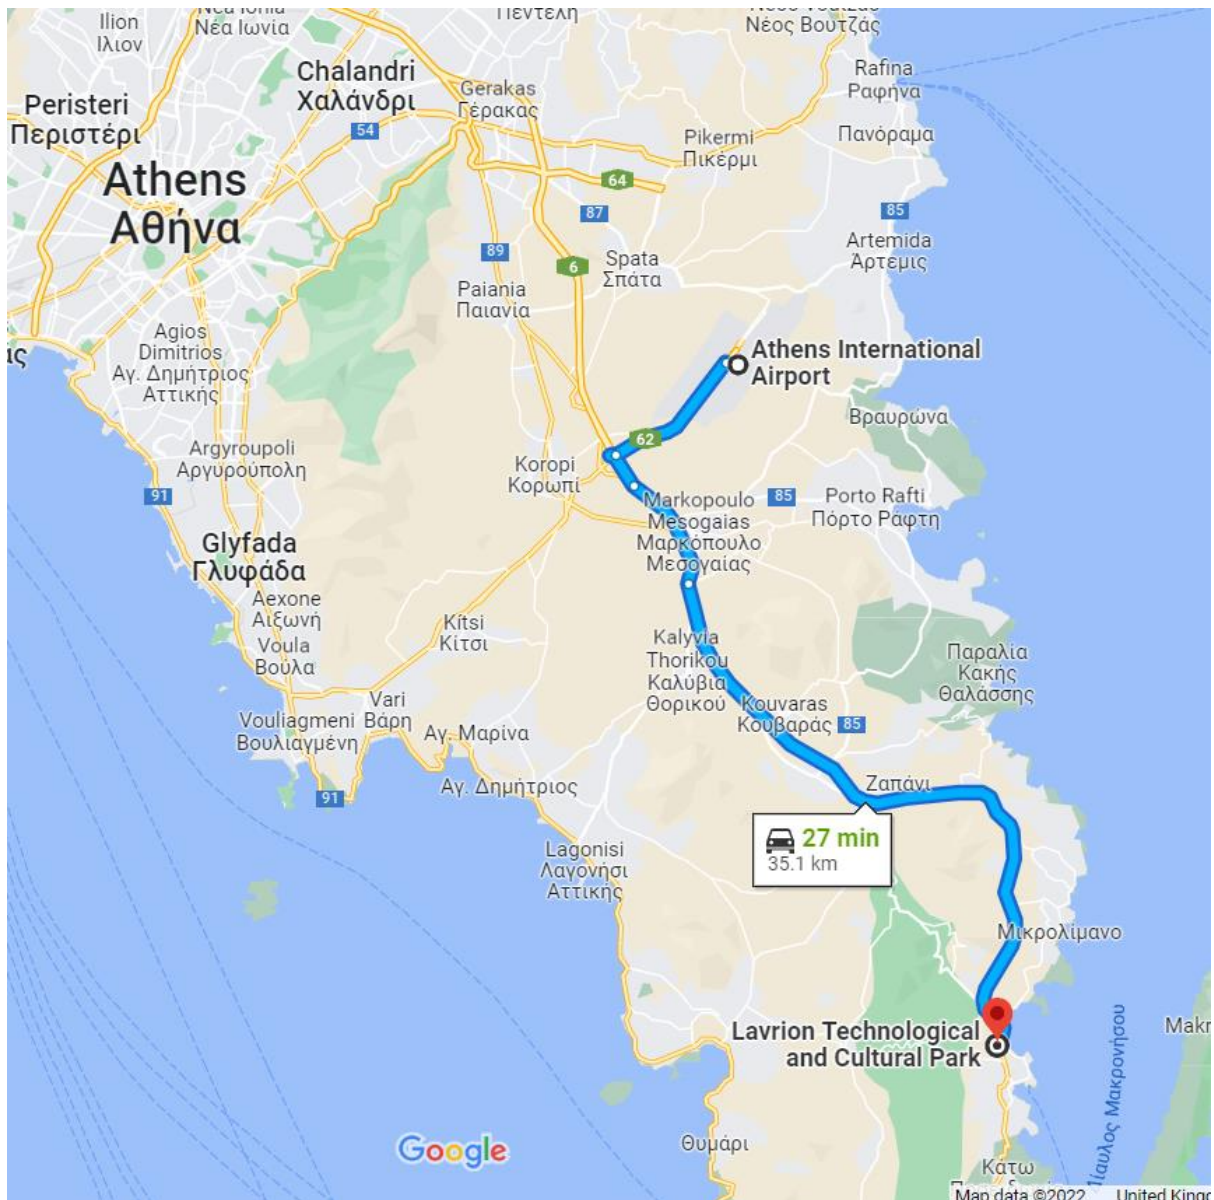

Lavrio is the one of the two towns of Lavreotiki, a municipality on the southeastern side of the Attika prefecture. Its name comes from “lavra” or “lavri”, which means narrow passage, tunnel. In fact, all the area is full of ancient and modern mining galleries.

Lavrio, in spite of its small scale (about 10.000 habitants) has been one of the most important industrial centers in Greece during 19th century. It was built as a worker's settlement, in the newly founded Hellenic State, partly following the "company model". The formation of Lavrio, through emigration, had been inherent to the exploitation of its rich subsoil that was, in its turn, directly linked to the effort of the new State to develop its resources and industry in the 19th century.
